In what is gearing up to be a year of highlights the band are confirmed to make their second major festival appearance in August; joining an illustrious line-up that includes Raye, The Prodigy, Central Cee, Wet Leg, and Franz Ferdinand, Flo Crowe & The Dilemmas will take to the stage at Boardmasters 2025, the very place where they made their major festival debut just last year - rapid progress for a young band and proof positive that once you see Flo Crowe & The Dilemmas live, you are going to want to see them again!

QUOTE FROM FLO CROWE & THE DILEMMAS

“We’re hopeful that our music, and the motivation behind what we do will connect with everyone in our generation, way beyond our native Cornwall – we want to invite everyone, wherever they are, to join our clan.

Why? Because this band has become a kind of shelter for us, a refuge from all the bad stuff our generation is confronting. Let’s face it, we’re the first to be threatened by multiple existential threats. Our dilemma is what to do about it as a generation. Do we storm the houses of parliament and scream at those in power? Or do we play to our strengths, get creative, make music and dance – after all, we’re young - loving life is what we should be doing.

The unrestricted access we have to everything that’s going on in the world can be exhausting and divisive. We can’t ignore it but we don’t have to let it overwhelm us. Music is how we recharge and reconnect - with ourselves and each other, it’s an umbrella that protects us from the storm going on outside. Our debut single celebrates the connection. It’s us opening our umbrella and inviting people to come under it and stand with us for a while.”

That Was That/ The Crowd will now be released by Little Genius Recordings on all digital platforms on April 4, 2025.
